Tirsan new factory was completed in September 2019 at the industrial park in Yunusemre, Manisa, as a hub of its business operation.

CERM-EX was involved in the project from the preliminary planning stage, providing project management, structural and MEP engineering services consistently until the completion of the building. The facilitation of the project process was the most challenging task due to the tight project schedule. CERM-EX successfully addressed it by setting and managing the appropriate project sequence.

The success was achieved by appropriately organising the conditions and requirements of the project, selecting the right design-build contractor through the competitive tender, establishing the rules for design and construction process, monitoring the progress in accordance with the established rules, and providing appropriate technical advices. These factors contribute not only to the efficient flow of the project sequence but also to the successful control of the construction quality and project cost, which eventually led to a high level of the client's satisfaction for our services.
